Project

Field(s)	e.g. New Media Art/Exhibition Practice/Digital Art/Education/Research/Interdisciplinary...
Description	Background In the contemporary world where rapid technological development and digitalization reshape the socio-economic and cultural paradigms, there is an urgency to rethink and envision values, skills and competencies of upcoming profession(al)s, that will be needed to respond to the societal and political challenges in the future.

The ongoing global shift towards the innovation and knowledge-based digital economy is heavily depended on the creative output and resources in fields of arts and culture. Creativity which is interwoven with these fields has strategic capacity and the role to lead and reinforce ongoing transformations.

Through the cooperation with European partners, the aim is to create a unique project for culture, art and technology, which will be generally focused on the development of capacity for the new media artists, institutions and audiences.

Particularly, the project will be focused on generating the innovative professional approaches throughout new media arts, creative practice and technology. It will serve creative practitioners to gain new skills and build their professional capacity by involving in the tailored educational program and diverse project initiatives (Exhibitions, study tours, accelerator programs, international exchange etc.) offered by the platform.
